For my love,

Sunday

Being without you has made me realize just how beautiful it is just to sit with you and enjoy your presence. The song "Precious and Priceless" is really true. These few moments with you are so very precious to me. I've grown so close to you and appreciate you much more. I appreciate how much you mean to me - your smell, your touch and voice, like the things you do for me - all of these are so beautiful. Yesterday at Jordan Park, sitting with you, I had such a good time.

Forgive me, Her, for asking so many questions - you were right - we should just sit and enjoy each other in the moments we have together. They were dumb questions anyway. Pastor Ken's message today really spoke to me about love - and taking time to love others - those are things that are going to last - not gaining material things.

'Human life is short. Each of us has a limited number of years. So are we going to go thru those so few years with little time for our family and friends and unseeing eyes for the beauties around us, concentrating on accumulating money and things when we have to leave them all behind anyway?'

We need to love, not criticize. It's really important and I praise the Lord for you because you taught me that - by your actions and words - and for Pastor Ken, who brought it to mind again.

Henry, we ~~to~~ have to be totally dependent on the Lord in our situation now - whether he wants us together or not.

It's so hard for me to wait for an answer. I feel like we are but then why are my parents so against it. I'm really confused right now. Don't call anymore Hen, even if Timi calls for you cause my mom found out that you called last night - don't ask me how.

Please pray that His will is done in this Henry.

You're an encouragement to me though cause you're my friend and I have good times with you - like swimming yesterday and everything. Holding your hand today after church was beautiful too. I get concerned that you're going to find ~~someone~~ else because I'm not that desirable or attractive and you are and so are other girls. But Y the Lord wants you to find ~~someone~~ else - I hope you do and are really happy and have a beautiful love relationship. I want His will because He knows what's best.

I just want to tell you about something that the Lord gave you.

You're the most forgiving person in the world -

At Waldheim, the preacher talked about forgiveness. He said it takes a strong person to forgive and also forgiveness in the greek implies turning away from the matter and never turning back - or other words really forgiving - As the preacher talked I thought of you. You forgive all I do wrong - everyday - and you never bring it up again - you're like the most forgiving person.

The Lord really has blessed me the past 3 years w/ you. You've taught me so much about how I should be - by your life and what you tell me. I'm so happy with you. If the Lord wants us together, I'm definitely not going to argue about it.

You're my best friend and I'm really in love with you.

Thank-you

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart
And do not lean on your own understanding

In all your ways acknowledge Him,
And He will make your paths straight."

Proverbs 3:5-6.
