Sunday night.

Babe,
Greetings from Allentown, Pennsylvania. You've missed quite a bit around here. We're all anxious for you to come home. I'm really hoping you can come home Thurs. night. I want to spend time with you and talk with you. It's so exciting to think of it.

Today + tonight in church John + Sandy (from Dallas) were there. He's interviewing with the board about becoming youth pastor at Faith. He's so friendly and he'll be in church next week so you'll get to see them. They just got engaged this week. Neat! Also, Keith is coming home for the weekend from PC-B so you can see him, too. And I'll be here, so you can see me (lucky you). I love you so very much, Henry. - can't wait to show you.

I've been running everyday (keeping ~~me~~ fit for you) I really enjoy it a lot. I think I'm getting better at it too - endurance wise. Only thing is my knee. Going downhill the other day. it made me pop - such sharp pains going through it. I'm praying for yours. We really have a lot in common, say?

Oh babe, the Lord is showing me so much lately about being close with Him. I need to share it with you when you get home. It's really neat.

Well, Parkland beat Allen on Friday night 20-0. Good we weren't there or you'd be mad at me (only kidding) remember all the football games we went to. Wish I could see you play football where, I bet you're the star. Did you get those verses put on your shirt?

The past 2 days when I went to work, I had to scrape my windshield. Sure is getting cold at night - but I really like it this way.

Tomorrow night, I'm going to a shower for Judy at Patty + Cindy's new place. They're both doing good Cindy's much better. She's being more convicted about being away from Him.

The Lord has really provided me with good friends to talk + share with especially Fatty + Sue. I had such a good talk with Fatty today. She's so open and I feel she's really mature. Also Sue, especially on Tues. nights is so understanding and willing to listen. She's very encouraging when I share with her. That sounds weird - Sue is not just nice on Tues - but that's when I get to talk with her most.

Pastor Dave spoke this morning on the mark of a Christian - our love. The Lord speaks to me through Him about how my life should be. Sunday morning have been great.

So many people ask about you, babe and are praying for you. That letter from Faith is really sweet. I'm glad she looks up to you and respects you - you're a good example to her. I wish I could see that family again. They're really neat.

I'm praying for your safety as you come home to me. Soon, we'll be together, babe. It will be great. I love you,
Nalorie
