Hi, It's Friday night and I just got home from visiting with Tim & Karen. I had a great time. Their apartment is real nice - honey. We listened to records and looked at pictures. I showed them mine, which they liked. I got a look at their wedding pictures - they are real good. You look the greatest in them - really. Tim got the pictures back from my marathon. He lent them to me to take home if I promised to bring them back - so you'll see 'em when you come home. I think I look bad in them - you know how photogenic I am! Tim says he wants you to come over there over Thanksgiving vacation. They applied for a mortgage on a 3 bedroom house a few blocks from them (new development). So they might be movin' soon. Well, later on about 11:00 Randy + Deb came over. Randy told so many jokes I couldn't stop laughing. Then later, we all had Karen's molasses cake (delicious) after it came out of the oven. Wish you coulda been there.

My dad got my snow tires on today.

$198.00 I was shocked! Ya well, another pay check blown. Actually I sorta expected that much. That was nice of him to get them for me - to sit and wait for them to put them on - he even fell down the stairs at the place. I have the weekend off. Planning to sleep in tomorrow and just go out and band around. 5 more days! Yal.
