

Kate, Missing You. So good to know your love and have the hope of being in your arms soon.
I'm praying you're feeling much better now and catching up on your work. I think of you so often during the day and wish I could be there to take care of my babe.

Just wait - I'll take care of you.
It's a beautiful night - it's actually warming up.
Today was great - 50 degrees and sunny. I kept looking out the windows all day longer to be out - spring fever. After work I ran about 3 miles - did that ever feel great - so in tune with God's creation! The air smelled & felt so fresh & clear. Can't describe how good I felt to be running. I was getting really itchy to not be able to run cause of ice and snow. Break out today! Tonight I had my CPR recertification class. It went good. 100% on written and demonstrating - for Heimlich, CPR on adult and baby - 2 man & 1 man. I'm glad I took it - good review for me. 22 days till you are with me. I miss the warmth of your love. Can't wait to love you.
