Babe,
Well, it's Monday and I made it to work today you know, sometimes I feel like it's not even worth getting up when you're not around. I really miss you and I keep thinking about last week and the good time I had with you.

Work was O.K. today - we're not real busy but it just doesn't compare with being with you. I called Eric Insurance today and I'll pay 1/2 which is about $150.00 and then we'll have to get a new policy later cause they're not licensed in Illinois. Also, I sent in my application w/ resume' to Neurotex. I'm really praying that I'd get the job he wants me to have. I'm excited about the big changes 130 days till the wedding!

This summer will be great too with you home.
I'm so sure that the Lord wants us together - He confirms it all the time (especially when I have to leave you) and I know we'll be happy together. I'm confident that you will be a good husband to me and I want to be a good wife. I was thinking of your idea about adopting a few children besides having our own and I really like the idea. We can pray about it - but I think it's definitely something the Lord would want us to do.
I think children would be fun. It's a big responsibility too and I definitely want to share in it with you.
The Kall Family - neat. I'm gonna enjoy my Life with you, babe. I can picture how neat our home will look (wherever we are is home). Lots of great pictures around and home made furniture and we'll be together. I'm excited about being your helper. It's good to know you're behind me in everything. I'm behind you in all you do, too. You're the most special person to me, Henry. You really motivate me to do things and I admire & respect so many things about you. I keep thinking about how you could put that film in those grooves in the dark - it amazes me how talented you are in so many areas. I got the best! We'll be a good team, babe.

I thought I'd sent you these comics cause they really made me laugh (esp. Hagar) and I thought they'd make you laugh too (with me).

Oh, you are my Zen and I'm really in love with you. I'm praying for you Henry. I know Tues. are your rough days too. Pretty soon you'll be home with me again. I'm excited about being your assistant in Cindy's wedding. I'm happy that you want me as your helper.

Ps. 91:11-16

Love ya, Valerie
