

TUES

Now, I'm glad everything's going so well for you. Congratulations on winning your volleyball tournament. Wish I could have seen you play. I'm really happy to hear we got a room for next year - that's another answer - I knew He'd come thru. That's neat ~~that you got to pick the room you wanted for a great~~.

I trust your room picking judgement and know I'll be happy there with you. Whenever I can lay my head down with you, I'll be content.

I'm going to enjoy having you show ^{ME} ~~the~~ the city. It'll be an adventure. It's neat that we both didn't go out together for the first time. Now, you can show me around since you know what you're doing. Running at the lake sounds neat - I'm excited to see it. I'm getting more used to running with people. But I still enjoy running solo in a deserted place more. But this way, you'll let me go out by myself since there's so many people around. That's sort of a relief to know; I want to be able to go out on my own.

Everything about Chicago sounds neat - It'll be so much fun to be with you. ~~You're my babe and my love. I can't wait for you come home~~

I need you - I'm gonna be so happy to see you. ~~But~~ I want to please you and do so much with you and hear all about your past year. I'll wait on you and try to satisfy you and I'll smother you with my love. Our life will be great together. I can hardly believe it's almost here.

I know you want to come home babe, but I feel sorta bad that you must leave your friends - I know Dave + Marynell are real close friends and you won't see them next year. Just remember, I'm praying about that, too that it won't be so hard on you. You can invite as many people as you want from school, Hen. Don't feel you have to limit it. I did get Pastor Thompson's new address.

I'm really looking forward to camping out with you. Sleeping on our tent. ~~Boy that tent is be pretty special to us after we get done with it.~~ I'll be great. I can't wait to discover you, Henry, my lover.

I dream about our honeymoon a lot. and it's the best dream.

Thanks for taking care of the planning for it.

I have an appoint. with the gyn. on June 6. I definitely feel at peace with the idea of taking the pill, Hen. I hope you feel OK. about it - from your letter, it sounds like you do. Thanks.

I just know it'll be good - to feel the freedom of whenever, wherever we want - no interruptions. Just like us - spontaneous.

I'm sure I would not continue for longer than 2 years. But,

~~if I start in June then, they say 1 month to 6 weeks before you're safe so by August Babe, I'll be safe - for you - all of me for you.~~ You've been away long enough Hen - now come back to me I'm ready - I'll be waiting for you.

I agree with you about us being close this summer - and for life. Hen, I want that so bad, and so do you and so does our Lord so I'm sure it can happen. I'm just really praying that I am't be selfish, but just be understanding and in fellowship with Him. I don't want our life wasted with arguing and stuff like that. It's too short. I just want to love you and live life to the fullest with you - discovering together and sharing. I want your happiness - that means so much to me that my Hen is happy and content. We have much together. I ran at the park every tonight. I had a good run. I don't know how far I ran - but I just ran for 45 minutes all over the park. A lot of people were out there. Afterwards I sat by the creek by our spot and there were guys kyasking? they set up poles and went through them. Some of them were good. I decided to start running in the morning - tomorrow's gonna be my first day, so I'll let you know what happens. Up at 5:30 and run, bath + ready for work, breakfast and all. 2 reasons: (1) I'm gonna take Aida to work and pick her up so sometimes she'll be late and I won't have enough time to run before supper - and I'll feel rushed - also she'd have to wait for me. (2) It's time I changed and started morning running - it's cooler, it's more deserted and mornings are so pretty. The only problem I see is getting up - only 1 hour earlier than now but I think I can do it. - I'll report back. Work's good lately. My patients are all really cool and I enjoy them. Thanks for your prayers. Tom and Carolyn and I are going to the park for lunch. It helps break up the day - to get away from the hospital and gives us a chance to get into the sun. So hard to stay inside on a nice day.

My mom gave me her list, and they're all addressed now. So, it's going good.

Ken, when you talk about us being united - it really causes me to long for you. You are my heart's desire. It's so strong I can hardly bear it without you. I ache for you Ken and I won't be satisfied till I see you.

Your finals start tomorrow and you can be sure that I'll be praying for you. He's with you Henry through it all. I'm sure of it. He's definitely working in our plans - I see it everyday.

I love you, Henry and I'm ready. Love.
